Introduction

In recent years, an important change related to Human Rights has developed. The digital revolution brought with it the recognition of a part of society that had been violated and invisibilized for years, whether because of race, culture, gender or color. Although this has been tarnished due to armed conflicts and the economic crisis. For this reason, it is crucial to have professionals who can safeguard the needs of those whose lives have been affected by external agents. With this in mind, TECH has designed this program with the aim of providing an updated vision on the rights of indigenous peoples, the international legal framework for the protection of the LGTBIQ+ collective and the obligations of the state in the face of migratory flows. All this, condensed in a 100% online program and a syllabus designed by the best experts.

Delve into the rights and obligations of States in the field of asylum and refuge through this 100% online university program"

The promotion of Human Rights implies the elimination of barriers that impede sustainable development, such as discrimination, exclusion and violence. In this context, the rights of indigenous peoples are of particular relevance, as they have historically been marginalized and their rights to land, culture and self-determination have been the object of constant struggles and demands. In this sense, the recognition of their cultural richness and their own development model would favor their growth as an independent society. Even so, they are villages with a high rate of poverty and are affected by constant discrimination.

On the other hand, the struggle of the LGTBQ+ communities has gained greater relevance in recent years, also favoring a change in heteronormative and patriarchal roles. As a result, same-sex marriage has been legalized in several countries, and cases of workplace harassment and domestic violence have become more visible. However, there are still significant challenges in many parts of the world in terms of equal rights and recognition of sexual and gender diversity.

Finally, various factors, such as the economic crisis and armed conflicts, have led to an increase in migratory flows and the forced displacement of people. This has become a major issue in the most important international organizations, since we are facing a great challenge: to find a balance between the adequate protection of migrants' human rights and regulating access to host societies.

In view of the above, it is undeniable the need for highly trained professionals in these issues, who can ensure the safety of the most vulnerable and promote new measures to protect them. With this in mind, TECH has designed an academic program through which the students will delve into the most relevant concepts in the area. All this, contained in a syllabus designed under the most rigorous criteria and by professionals of great prestige.

This Postgraduate Diploma in Human Rights Protection of Vulnerable Groups contains the most complete and up-to-date program on the market. The most important features include:

Methodology

This training program offers a different way of learning. Our methodology uses a cyclical learning approach: Relearning.

This teaching system is used, for example, in the most prestigious medical schools in the world, and major publications such as the New England Journal of Medicine have considered it to be one of the most effective.

Discover Relearning, a system that abandons conventional linear learning, to take you through cyclical teaching systems: a way of learning that has proven to be extremely effective, especially in subjects that require memorization"

At TECH we use the Case Method

Our program offers a revolutionary method of skills and knowledge development. Our goal is to strengthen skills in a changing, competitive, and highly demanding environment.

At TECH, you will experience a way of learning that is shaking the foundations of traditional universities around the world”

Our university is the first in the world to combine Harvard Business School case studies with a 100% online learning system based on repetition.

A learning method that is different and innovative.

This intensive Law program at TECH Technological University will prepare you to face all the challenges in this area, both nationally and internationally. Its main objective is to promote personal and professional growth by helping you achieve success. For this purpose, we rely on Harvard Business school case studies with which we have a strategic Convention that allows us to use the materials used in the most prestigious university in the world.

We are the only online university that offers Harvard materials as teaching materials on its courses"

The student will learn, through collaborative activities and real cases, how to solve complex situations in real business environments.

The case method has been the most widely used learning system among the world's leading business schools for as long as they have existed. The case method was developed in 1912 so that law students would not only learn the law based on theoretical content. It consisted of presenting students with real-life, complex situations for them to make informed decisions and value judgments on how to resolve them. In 1924, Harvard adopted it as a standard teaching method.

What should a professional do in a given situation? This is the question we face in the case method, an action-oriented learning method. Throughout the course, students will be presented with multiple real cases. They will have to combine all their knowledge and research, and argue and defend their ideas and decisions.

Relearning Methodology

Our university is the first in the world to combine the Harvard University case studies method with a 100% online learning system based on repetition, combining 8 different didactic elements in each lesson.

We enhance Harvard case studies with the best 100% online teaching method: Relearning.

In 2019, we obtained the best learning results of all online universities in the world.

At TECH you will learn using a cutting-edge methodology designed to train the executives of the future. This method, at the forefront of international teaching, is called Relearning.

Our university is the only university in the world authorized to employ this successful method. In 2019, we managed to improve our students' overall satisfaction levels (teaching quality, quality of materials, course structure, objectives...) based on the best online university indicators.

In our program learning is not a linear process, but rather, a spiral (learn, unlearn, forget, and re-learn). Therefore, we combine each of these elements concentrically.

This methodology has trained more than 650,000 university graduates with unprecedented success in fields as diverse as biochemistry, genetics, surgery, international law, management skills, sports science, philosophy, law, engineering, journalism, history, and financial markets and instruments. All this in a highly demanding environment, where the students have a strong socio-economic profile and an average age of 43.5 years.

Relearning will allow you to learn with less effort and better performance, involving you more in your training, developing a critical mindset, defending arguments, and contrasting opinions: a direct equation for success.

From the latest scientific evidence in the field of neuroscience, not only do we know how to organize information, ideas, images and memories, but we know that the place and context where we have learned something is fundamental for us to be able to remember it and store it in the hippocampus, to retain it in our long-term memory.

In this way, and in what is called neurocognitive context-dependent e-learning, the different elements in our program are connected to the context where the individual carries out their professional activity.

This program offers the best educational material, prepared with professionals in mind:

Study Material

All teaching material is produced by the specialists who teach the course, specifically for the course, so that the teaching content is highly specific and precise.

These contents are then applied to the audiovisual format, to create the TECH online working method. All this, with the latest techniques that offer high quality pieces in each and every one of the materials that are made available to the student.

Classes

There is scientific evidence suggesting that observing third-party experts can be useful.

Learning from an Expert strengthens knowledge and memory, and generates confidence in future difficult decisions.

Practising Skills and Abilities

They will carry out activities to develop specific competencies and skills in each thematic area. Exercises and activities to acquire and develop the skills and abilities that a specialist needs to develop in the context of the globalization we live in.

Additional Reading

Recent articles, consensus documents and international guidelines, among others. In TECH's virtual library, students will have access to everything they need to complete their course.

Case Studies

They will complete a selection of the best case studies in the field used at Harvard. Cases that are presented, analyzed, and supervised by the best senior management specialists in the world.

Interactive Summaries

The TECH team presents the contents attractively and dynamically in multimedia lessons that include audio, videos, images, diagrams, and concept maps in order to reinforce knowledge.
This exclusive multimedia content presentation training tExclusive system was awarded by Microsoft as a "European Success Story".

Testing & Retesting

We periodically evaluate and re-evaluate students' knowledge throughout the program, through assessment and self-assessment activities and exercises: so that they can see how they are achieving your goals.
