Is it Important to Obtain a Language Certificate?

Language certification is essential in today's world. It is not enough to be proficient in a second language, but it is also necessary to accredit that proficiency so that institutions and companies of all kinds can know the candidate's real level of command of a language. For this reason, this university program is essential for any student who wishes to be able to accredit their oral performance in Chinese according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages.

03

What Is Level B2?

Level B2 is part of the Independent User Level, which is divided into two sublevels: First and Second Independent User Level (B1 and B2).

The first is the ability to maintain an interaction and make oneself understood in a variety of situations; for example: generally understanding the main ideas of extended discussions around them as long as the speech is clearly articulated at standard language level; offers and asks for personal opinions in an informal discussion with friends; expresses in an understandable way the main idea they want to get across; flexibly uses broad, simple language to express much of what they want; is able to carry on a conversation or discussion, but can sometimes be difficult to understand when trying to say exactly what they want; expresses themselves understandably, although pause for some grammatical and lexical planning and some correctness are evident, especially in long periods of free production.

In order to achieve effective learning, TECH bases its teaching methodology on practice, numerous exercises and the support of native teachers, who ensure that each student gets the support they need.

You will not find a program like this one, which will allow you to work at your own pace, with native teachers, in small groups based on the specific practice of CEFR competencies in each session"

Conventional methods of teaching a second language, such as demonstrative classes or mechanical exercises, slow down learning and seriously affect student motivation, as confirmed by statistical data reflecting the failure of the traditional system and methodology.

TECH's Chinese Level B2 oral proficiency preparation program offers you a method based on interaction and synchronous and direct communication between teacher and student to comprehensively prepare for the oral level certification test. Our objective is to strengthen your skills in a changing, real and multicultural context and, guarantee your success in passing the test. To this end, we emulate the test using mock tests throughout the course.

The student will learn through activities, stories and real contexts, the resolution of everyday and basic communication situations in simulated learning environments and will face real mock exams to prepare intensively for the level certification test.

...All of this is enhanced with the best 100% online teaching methodology: Re-learning...

According to the latest scientific evidence in the field of neuroscience, not only do we know how to organize information, ideas, images, memories, but we know that the place and context where we have learned something is fundamental for us to be able to remember it and store it in the hippocampus and retain it in our long-term memory. In this way, and in what is called “Neurocognitive Context-Dependent Learning”, the different elements of our intensive Chinese B2 Language Course are connected with the context in which the participant will take their certification exam in order to guarantee success on the day of the test.

Specific Objectives

Sociocultural and Sociolinguistic Competence

- Broaden and diversify your knowledge of sociocultural aspects of communities where they speak the language, acquiring a natural and confident manner of speaking, which doesn't attract attention nor leads to special treatment, different to that given to native speakers. Furthermore, gain knowledge of how to adjust your behavior, reactions, attitude, message and wording to any changes in situation, style and emphasis.
- Identify the most important aspects of a variety of common formal and informal oral and written registers, and appropriately use the expressions, pronunciation and intonation of the most common registers that you are most in contact with.
- Perceive the differentiating characteristics of the Italian language pattern in relation to other widespread or nearby patterns.

Linguistic Competence

- Manage a wide and varied repertoire of linguistic resources, including complex syntax and textual grammar, to naturally approach with precision and clarity texts on a vast range of situations and topics, almost without showing you have limited knowledge of what you want to say.
- Flexibly adapt to changes in direction, register and emphasis, although hesitations and circumlocutions can still occur.
- Efficiently use a variety of connectors and discourse markers to clearly show the link between different ideas and successfully make the speech cohesive in a flexible and efficient way.
- Possess good command of linguistic resources with very few mistakes. When using complex structures, especially in discourse development, and even more so in oral communication or in less common situations, there are sometimes cohesion or inappropriate register mistakes, as well as sporadic slips or some "resistant" errors in less commonly controlled situations. In these cases the student will be capable of self-correcting.

“

This university program will give you access to numerous activities to reinforce your new Chinese language skills.

Did you know?

Communicative competence is not merely limited to the knowledge and ability to use the linguistic code, but has other broader dimensions, which place it in direct relation with other competences such as information processing and digital competence, learning to learn, social and civic competence, or cultural and artistic competence.

This implies a cultural immersion that is only possible to recreate in the online format through simulated scenarios, storytelling, videos and real situations.

Chinese is the language of the present and the future. Do not miss this opportunity.
