01 Welcome

The Online Conversation Classes for Level B2 Preparation in German are an intensively structured program delivered through online classes that prepare the student to pass the Oral Test for Level B2 German of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR). This preparation will be led by native university professors, who will teach the student everything necessary to successfully pass this test. Therefore, this program has been designed with the objective of helping the students to acquire the necessary Oral Skills to be able to certify their level and to favor their personal and professional growth by helping them to achieve success in the acquisition of German.

A unique program, taught digitally and intensively, that will be a turning point in the student's academic skills.

Successfully pass Level B2 of the CEFR in German and improve your skills in this exciting language”

Introduction

Today, almost all academies and language schools that teach German offer a traditional teaching method, based on the repetition of simple linguistic structures with no connection to adequately structured content or concrete skills. At TECH we want to continue to break down barriers and avoid this ineffective system. For this reason, we have implemented in these language conversation classes a personalized method that allows us to stimulate learning by encouraging imagination and learning through sensory exploration in order to be able to understand and interpret our surroundings.

This system allows the brain to work and learn a second language in the most natural way possible, the same way that we learned our mother tongue. A unique learning methodology, based on the knowledge of native university professors.

If you want to improve your Oral Skills in German through a unique methodology, then this program is definitely for you"

Classes that, in only 40 hours, will allow you to orally certify your B2 in German before the CEFR.

It is proven that learning languages increases your intelligence. Learning a foreign language strengthens the brain's neural networks"

02

Is it Important to Obtain a Language Certification?

In today's competitive world, speaking other languages is a key part of our modern culture, helping us to expand our knowledge and interact with people from other parts of the world, which helps us to learn about the traditions of other countries, establish friendships or conduct business.

Nowadays, however, simply knowing foreign languages is not enough. Nowadays you must have an official qualification that accredits and recognizes your proficiency in a given language. In fact, many schools, universities and companies only accept candidates who have an official qualification based on the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR).

The ability to communicate effectively in another language, and accredit it with an official CEFR qualification, is an essential requirement for your academic and professional development. TECH helps you achieve it with intensive CEFR training”

tech 12 | Is it Important to Obtain a Language Certification?

TECH!

The Common European Framework of Reference for Languages is the only officially recognized and accredited system for assessing a student's level of proficiency. Although there are other certification systems, these come from private institutions and are, therefore, not officially valid. The CEFR establishes a single criterion to determine the difficulty of the courses and awards diplomas that are recognized throughout the European Union.

At TECH we offer you the only intensive program designed to prepare you to obtain your official certificate based 100% on the CEFR, the only official system recognized and accepted throughout Europe.

Learn to speak fluent German and make the most of it by obtaining an official qualification based on the CEFR.

Other private language certification systems require students to periodically recertify their level of proficiency. TECH's CEFR certificate gives you a diploma for life.

This preparation program is based on the most comprehensive and complete syllabus on the market: the 44 specific topics required by the CEFR for B2”

03

What Is the B2 Level?

Level B2 is part of the Independent User Level, which is further divided into two sub-levels: First and Second Independent User Level (B1 and B2).

Level B2 has two main characteristics: The first is the ability to maintain interaction and make oneself understood in a variety of situations; for example: generally understand the main ideas of extended discussions around them as long as the speech is clearly articulated at standard language level; offer and ask for personal opinions in an informal discussion with friends; express the main idea they want to get across; flexibly use broad, simple language to express much of what they want; is able to carry on a conversation or discussion, but can sometimes be difficult to understand when trying to say exactly what they want; express themselves understandably, although pauses for some grammatical and lexical planning and correctness are evident, especially in long periods of spontaneous speech.

In TECH's Individual Online Conversation Classes Program we prepare you thoroughly to obtain your official German B2 Certificate"

What Is the B2 Level?

01

It is the ability to understand the main ideas in complex texts which deal with both concrete and abstract topics, even if they are of a technical nature, as long as they are within their field of expertise.

02

You can interact with native speakers with a sufficient degree of fluency and naturalness, so that communication is effortless for the interlocutors.

Improve your skills in this language and certify your level quickly and easily thanks to everything you will learn in this excellent program offered by TECH”

03

You can produce clear and detailed texts on a range of diverse topics, as well as defend your point of view on general topics, indicating the pros and cons or different options.

B2 level self-assessment chart

What will I be able to do after completing the course?

Comprehension

Listening comprehension

Understand long speeches and lectures, and even follow complex arguments as long as the topic is relatively well-known to me.
Understand nearly all the news bulletins on the television and on current affairs programs.
Understand the majority of movies in which they talk in a standard level of language.

Speaking

Oral interaction

Be able to participate in a conversation with fluency and spontaneity, which makes normal communication with native speakers possible.
Be able to take an active role in debates based on daily situations, explaining and defending my points of view.

Oral expression

Present clear and detailed descriptions of a wide range of topics related to my speciality.
Know how to explain my point of view on a topic, mentioning the advantages and disadvantages of different options.

TECH helps you to get your official qualification with intensive, 100% CEFR training"

*Check your level.
Assess yourself.
More than 100 different activities to improve your fluency, expression, comprehension and pronunciation.*

Qualitative aspects of spoken language use for level B2

(According to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages)

What is expected to be achieved with this level?

Scope

Have a sufficiently broad level of language to be able to provide clear descriptions and express points of view on general topics without obvious pauses to search for a word, and knowing how to use complex sentences to achieve this.

Correction

Demonstrate relatively high grammatical accuracy.

Not make mistakes that cause misunderstanding and be able to correct almost all mistakes made.

Fluency

Be capable of producing fragments of a speech with a fairly uniform rhythm; although there could be pauses while thinking of certain structures or expressions.

Make very few long pauses while speaking.

Interaction

Start a conversation, take your turn to speak at the appropriate moment and finish a conversation when necessary, although it may not always be done with elegance.

Participate in debates on day to day topics, demonstrating understanding, inviting others to participate, etc.

Coherence

Use a limited number of cohesion mechanisms to turn sentences into a clear and coherent speech, although there may be some "nervousness" if the speech is long.

Download and practice vocabulary: More than 50 pages of word cards and glossaries.

- We will work with more than 100 activities for different oral skills.
- We will subject you to real conversation situations with native speakers.
- We will work on mock exams so that you are 100% prepared.

Skills-based practice

If the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages establishes the consolidation of a language through the acquisition of skills and bases its official tests on these skills, why don't most of the online preparation courses for the level certificate work according to skills? In TECH you will work on all the oral skills established by the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages in each of the subjects through an innovative method that is 100% adapted to European guidelines. In this training program we work according to skills, with more than 100 different activities in order to prepare you to obtain your official German B2 certificate.

Simulated learning scenarios

At TECH we believe in the importance of linguistic immersion to lay the foundations of a language as well as in storytelling to favor identification and first-person learning. Therefore, we present you with real and everyday situations with people like you who will face a new language and have to overcome all different kinds of problems. In this training we will expose you to real dialogues and conversation exercises designed and presented by experts and native speakers.

Do you want to revisit the class afterwards and review where you made mistakes or how a word was pronounced? Download the recorded session and watch it again.

An interactive chat to share queries, expressions, complex words, etc. in writing.

Specific virtual classes B2 CEFR

Are you ready for the exam? Our native teachers will explain to you all the tips and tricks you can use to pass the course with total guarantee of success, as well as the subjects you need to prepare better, the exercises that appear most frequently, mistakes to avoid, resources that can help you in certain situations, etc. All this is prepared on video for you to watch whenever and however you want.

Take the sessions with you on your cell phone and view them wherever you want!

In addition:

- The student will be provided with the following interaction and communication tools, which will be combined throughout the course to obtain the desired level of skills at the level in question. These are:
- Internal messaging tools with teachers and tutors
- Chat tools for written interaction
- Discussion forums to develop written expression and interaction skills.
- Telephone assistance to resolve technical questions or incidents
- Technical services contact e-mail

Our Methodology

During this Individual Online Conversation Classes for German B2 Level Preparation Program you will enjoy intensive work sessions that will prepare you to certify you for the B2 level of German based 100% on the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR). For this purpose, we use a method of oral proficiency practice in which the student works intensively and repeatedly on all the contents required by the Framework, providing them with extensive preparation to pass the test.

You will be able to study German at your own pace, individually and with native university teachers. This will enable you to successfully pass the requirements of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR)”

The TECH Method

Conventional methods of teaching a second language, such as demonstrative classes or mechanical exercises, slow down learning and seriously affect student motivation, as confirmed by statistical data reflecting the failure of the traditional system and methodology.

TECH's German B2 level oral proficiency preparation program offers you a method based on interaction and synchronous and direct communication between teacher and student to provide you with comprehensive preparation for the official oral level certification test. Our objective is to strengthen your skills in a changing, real and multicultural context and to guarantee your success in passing the test. To this end, we emulate the official test using mock tests throughout the course.

The student will learn through activities, stories and real contexts, the resolution of everyday and basic communication situations in simulated learning environments and will face real mock exams to prepare intensively for the level certification test.

...All of this is enhanced with the best 100% online teaching methodology: Re-learning...

Our school is the first in the world to combine storytelling with a 100% online learning system based on repetition, which combines different elements that represent an evolution with respect to the simple study and performance of exercises.

Our B2 CEFR oral communication skills preparation program is the only one on the market licensed to use the Relearning methodology, which enhances learning by optimizing the effort/result ratio.

This methodology, at the forefront of world teaching, is called Re-learning. Our language school is the first licensed to employ this successful method, having managed in 2015 to improve the overall satisfaction levels (teaching quality, quality of materials, course structure, objectives...) of the students who complete the courses with respect to the indicators of the best language courses on the market.

The overall score obtained by our learning system is 8.01, according to the highest international standards.

Re-learning Methodology

We prevent your motivation from waning and offer you the best learning environment.

TECH's intensive oral proficiency preparation program is based on synchronous communication, in real time, as this type of interaction has been proven to reinforce personal participation, strengthen work interaction, socio-emotional relationships and personal interactions, all of which helps to increase motivation. (Hrastinski, 2008).

...with a personalized and expert-led training itinerary...

In order to facilitate tutor-student contact as much as possible, you will have a wide range of communication possibilities, both in real time and delayed (internal messaging, telephone answering service, e-mail contact with the technical secretary and chat).

Our system will allow you to organize your time and learning pace, adapting it to your schedule, and will also allow you to access the contents from any device with an internet connection (computer, tablet, smartphone)”

Based on the latest evidence in neuroscience, not only do we know how to organize information, ideas, images, memories, but we also know that the place and context where we have learned something is crucial for us to be able to remember it and store it in the hippocampus and retain it in our long-term memory. In this way, and in what is called “Neurocognitive context-dependent learning”, the different elements of our intensive German B2 level preparation course are connected to the context in which the participant will take his or her official certification exam in order to guarantee success on the day of the test.

... and all this with teachers at the forefront of technology and education...

Study wherever and however you want: connect with your mobile device and learn with the best native teachers.

Immersion in real situations

We present you with real conversational situations with native speakers with different accents in different contexts.

Course Objectives

This program of Individual Language Conversation Classes for German B2 Level Preparation was created with the objective of providing the student with the necessary Oral Skills to face the exam that accredits their level and to pass it through practice, training, repetition, personalized follow-up, intensity and the pedagogical excellence of the TECH method. After the program, the student will be able to certify their B2 Level and continue to advance in the study of the language. This will be done under the guidance of native university professors who will guide their learning.

If your goal is to successfully certify B2 level German, then these classes are for you”

General Objectives

01

Understand, interact and express yourself in a extensive range of situations, both orally and written, with good control of linguistic resources and with a degree of precision and ease that allows for natural communication with native speakers.

02

Acquire deeper knowledge of sociocultural aspects related to this situations and alter your register, attitudes and gestures appropriately in each situation.

03

Internalize new linguistic resources through functional and formal practice and to reinforce the use of those already known; to reflect on mistakes in order to be able to correct yourself.

04

Become aware of the communication and learning strategies that help you the most, so that you can use them intentionally.

05

Develop autonomy in the planning, carrying out, evaluation and improvement of your own learning.

Specific Objectives

Oral Comprehension

- Understand any type of message, both live and recorded (lively conversations between native speakers, lectures, talks and reports, statements and other forms of linguistically complex academic and professional presentations), understanding the content of the information and identifying the points of view and attitudes of the speakers, as long as there's no excessive noise in the background, inadequate structuring of the discourse or idiomatic use of the language.

Study with an intensive program led by native university professors. This will give you the necessary skills to communicate fluently in German.

Oral expression

- Produce long, coherent and organized texts on a wide range of either general issues, or on your area of expertise, in order to transmit information, narrate, describe, expose or argue with clarity, while expanding and defending your ideas and highlighting significant aspects.
- Produce flexible speech, with clear and natural pronunciation, confidently expressing yourself with precision and a good level of self correction, showing clear fluidity even in longer, more complex periods of speech.
- Adequately interact in a wide range of diverse situations and on general, academic and professional topics, cooperating and expressing yourself with spontaneity and efficiency, often showing clear fluidity and adjusting the register and politeness to the specific situation.
- Understand and express ideas, opinions, agreements, arguments, advice and complex information, clearly marking the relation between your ideas.

Specific Objectives

Sociocultural and sociolinguistic competence

- Broaden and diversify your knowledge of sociocultural aspects of communities where they speak the language, acquiring a natural and confident manner of speaking, which doesn't attract attention nor leads to special treatment, different to that given to native speakers. Furthermore, gain knowledge of how to adjust your behavior, reactions, attitude, message and wording to any changes in situation, style and emphasis.
- Identify the most important aspects of a variety of frequent formal and informal oral and written registers and use expressions, pronunciation and intonation of the most common and most frequently encountered registers.
- Perceive the differentiating characteristics of the language pattern with which one is in contact in relation to other widespread or nearby patterns.

Linguistic competence

- Manage a wide and varied repertoire of linguistic resources, including complex syntax and textual grammar, to naturally approach with precision and clarity texts on a vast range of situations and topics, almost without showing you have limited knowledge of what you want to say.
- Flexibly adapt to changes in direction, register and emphasis, although hesitations and circumlocutions can still occur.
- Efficiently use a variety of connectors and discourse markers to clearly show the link between different ideas and successfully make the speech cohesive in a flexible and efficient way.
- Possess good control of linguistic resources with very few mistakes. When using complex structures, especially in discourse development, and even more so in oral communication or in less common situations, there are sometimes cohesion or inappropriate register mistakes, as well as sporadic slips or some "resistant" errors in less commonly controlled situations. In these cases the student will be capable of self-correcting.

In order to consolidate all these skills you will have more than 40 sessions designed by expert teachers and based 100% on the CEFR”

Did you know?

Communicative competence is not merely limited to the knowledge and ability to use the linguistic code, but has other broader dimensions, which place it in direct relation with other competences such as information processing and digital competence, learning to learn, social and civic competence, or cultural and artistic competence.

This implies a cultural immersion that is only possible to recreate in the online format through simulated scenarios, storytelling, videos and real situations.

Uniquely TECH.

A new opportunity led me to work in Germany and although I already had some knowledge, I still needed to improve my oral fluency. These TECH classes have helped me tremendously and I couldn't be happier to have taken them. I would like to highlight the level of the teachers and above all the quality of the sessions.

Ariadna Ramos Jiménez

CEO

I recommend these TECH classes to anyone who wants to certify B2 Oral in German. It has certainly been a stimulating experience and the teachers' didactics have been a unique learning tool.

The Professional Benefits of German

German is the ninth most spoken language in the world. It is spoken in countries such as: Switzerland, Austria, Luxembourg and Belgium. And also in other parts of the world in small communities.

There is no doubt that the main reason to learn German is for work. Austria has the lowest unemployment rate of the Eurozone countries; Switzerland is one of the most affluent countries and offers excellent working conditions; the engine of Europe, Germany, offers great employment opportunities to anyone who is willing to work. However, a good level of German is a prerequisite for working in these countries. Many have tried their luck and emigrated from their home countries in search of work, but doing it without knowing German is not particularly easy.

Learning German may be just what you need to develop your career. Knowing German will also make it easier to create or maintain working relationships with German-speaking associates in your country. It will undoubtedly help to strengthen relationships and close business deals. It is also worth bearing in mind that German is the native language of one of the world's major exporting countries, and having a good command of this language allows you to perform better in business and instill greater confidence in working relationships.

Additionally, German is the second most important language for the sciences and Germany is the third most important country for its contribution to research and development. Germany awards a large number of research grants to foreign scientists and almost 20% of the world's books are written in German.
